

Misk Lake projects handed over to National Water Co.

18 July 2010

JEDDAH - In implementation of the King's directive, Jeddah Mayoralty has handed over to the National Water Company (NWC) the pipeline project for transferring sewage water from Misk Lake to the Water Treatment Plant at the airport and carrying the treated sewage water from the Water Treatment Plant to the rainwater network.

It also handed over water pumps linked to these two projects.

The hand-over process took place during a meeting chaired by Deputy Mayor Khaled Bin Fadl Ugail Saturday. Present in the meeting were Abdullah Al-Assaf, Director of Jeddah Unit Work at the National Water Company, who is also the Head of the Technical Committee for Handing Over the "Misk Lake"; Alawi Bin Muhammad Samait, Deputy Mayor for Construction and Projects; and Abdullah Al-Thaqafi, Director of the Water Treatment Plants at the National Water Company.
